
Terence C. Flynn
Global Investment Research
New York

Terence is lead analyst for the large cap US biotechnology sector in Global Investment Research. He joined Goldman Sachs in 2010 as a vice president and was named managing director in 2015.

Prior to joining the firm, Terence worked at Lazard Capital Markets as a senior vice president covering the US biotechnology sector.

Terence earned a BS in Engineering from Cornell University in 2000 and a PhD in Bioengineering from Rice University in 2004.

