
Kamakshya Trivedi

Global Investment Research
London

Kamakshya is co-head of Global Foreign Exchange and Emerging Markets Strategy. His research focus spans macroeconomics, corporate finance and economics of emerging markets and he has published articles in a number of leading academic journals, including The Economic Journal, Bulletin of Economic Research and the Journal of Development Studies.

Previously, he was chief Emerging Markets macro strategist and senior economist in the Global Markets Research Group. Before that, Kamakshya worked in Global Macro and Macro Equity Research for six years. He joined Goldman Sachs in 2007 and was named managing director in 2013.

Prior to joining the firm, Kamakshya was an economist at the Bank of England from 2003 to 2007 and as a lecturer in economics at the University of Oxford from 1998 to 2002.

Kamakshya earned a first-class honours degree in philosophy, politics and economics from Merton College, Oxford University, in 1998, and a PhD in Economics from Nuffield College, Oxford University, in 2003. His doctoral thesis analyzed the disparate growth experience across regions in India between 1960 and 1995.

